This subject will provide students with the opportunity to analyse the nature of the contemporary sports industry and acquire a working knowledge of its principal administrative contexts. Students will become conversant with modern management theories as they apply to the sports sector. Students are able to critically analyse the administrative functions within a range of business settings typical of the sports industry. The subject involves students in the application of modern management theories and practices to sports administration, including the application of strategies and concepts from the sports industry to a variety of sports settings. Students will also be introduced to the administrative implications of the future direction of sports business in Australia and internationally.

SPB5303 Governance

In this subject students study the nature of the contemporary sports industry and acquire a working knowledge of governance structures, stakeholders and approaches. Students will become conversant with current governance theories that apply to the sports sector and be equipped to critically analyse the functions and outcomes of governance within a range of typical sport industry settings. Students will learn evaluation skills for governance approaches and outcomes through case studies that are applicable to various sporting enterprises. Students undertaking this subject will be able to assess and select appropriate strategies and guidelines to establish high-performing leadership for best-practice sport governance.

SPB4304 Law and Ethics in Sports Administration

In this subject students will develop an understanding of the legal environment within the context of sport. The subject also aims to equip students with the relevant legal understanding to operate as sports administrators and coaches in what is becoming a complex legal environment.

SPB4305 Managed Accounting and Finance in Sports Administration

This subject provides students with the knowledge and understanding to record financial transactions within a sports business context. Students are taught to analyse and interpret data contained within financial reports, utilise accounting data to support management decisions relevant to sports businesses, and identify and apply contemporary financial principles and practices that apply to the sports sector.

Graduate Certificate in Sports Administration Exit Point

Students can elect to exit the course after four units and graduate with the Graduate Certificate in Sports Administration.
Perfect for ambitious individuals wanting to move up the corporate ladder, the Graduate Diploma of Sports Administration is a highly flexible postgraduate level offering providing professionals with the skills and knowledge necessary for success.

The increasingly political, legislative, and commercial complexity of issues surrounding the administration of sport demands managers with enhanced qualifications at a postgraduate level. Delivered solely online, students can receive the industry-recognised training they require, whilst continuing to work.
